Important information

We cannot accept a notice to claim a tax deduction on any part or full amount of a personal contribution that you've used to start a pension.

A tax deduction can only be claimed if:

- you are self-employed, substantially self-employed (see definition below), retired or unemployed
- you advise the Trustee of the amount you want to claim as a tax deduction
- the Trustee acknowledges your advice (an acknowledgement will be issued promptly after receipt of this form from you)

You are substantially self-employed if less than 10% of your total assessable income, reportable fringe benefits plus reportable employer super contributions for the year are attributable to eligible employment. 'Eligible employment' means employment where your employer would normally be obliged to make super contributions for your benefit. The full amount of superannuation contributions made are tax deductible if you are self-employed, substantially self-employed, retired or unemployed.

Contributions tax

Contributions tax at the rate of 15% will be deducted from the amount that you claim, less any applicable insurance premiums (certain limits may apply) paid into the fund in the relevant financial year. Additional tax may apply in relation to amounts exceeding the concessional contributions cap.

The amount of personal contributions claimed as a tax deduction will be subject to the concessional and non-concessional contributions cap (for the 2011/2012 financial year) as follows:

	Concessional contributions	Non-concessional contributions
Contributions cap for the 2011/2012 financial year	$25,000 $50,000 if you're age 50 or older (until 30 June 2012 only) ¹	$150,000 If you're under age 65, you can contribute up to three times the cap in a single year by combining some future years' caps

¹ The Federal Government has announced that the higher concessional contribution limit will remain for individuals aged 50 or older if their super balance is less than $500,000 (from 1 July 2012)
