

Suncorp Employee Superannuation Plan Product Update

Issued 1 July 2015

Effective 1 July 2015, the Duty of disclosure section on page 76 of the Suncorp Employee Superannuation Plan Product Guide issued on 1 July 2014 (Product Guide) is amended by replacing the existing wording with the following. Any term in this Product Update which is defined in the Product Guide has the same meaning given in the Product Guide:

We have a duty, under the Insurance Contracts Act 1984, to disclose to the insurer every matter that we know, or could reasonably be expected to know, that is relevant to the insurer's decision whether to accept the risk of the insurance and, if so, on what terms.

This duty, however, does not require disclosure of a matter:

- that diminishes the risk to be undertaken by the insurer;
- that's of common knowledge;
- that the insurer knows, or in the ordinary course of their business, ought to know; or
- as to which compliance with your duty is waived by the insurer.

It is a condition of your membership in the Suncorp Employee Superannuation Plan that you discharge the same duty of disclosure to us.

Non-disclosure

If you fail to comply with your duty of disclosure and the insurer wouldn't have entered into the contract if the failure had not occurred, the insurer may avoid the contract within 3 years of entering into it.

If your non-disclosure is fraudulent, the insurer may avoid the contract at any time.

The insurer may elect not to avoid your contract but to vary it by:

- (i) reducing the sum insured in accordance with a formula that takes into account the premium that would have been payable if you had complied with your duty of disclosure; or
- (ii) placing the insurer in the position in which they would have been in if you had complied with your duty of disclosure.

The options to vary the contract are available to the insurer while the contract remains in force.

Where the contract provides death cover, the insurer may only apply (i) above and must do so within 3 years of it entering into the contract.

The duty of disclosure continues to apply until the contract is entered into with the Insurer. It also applies when the insurer extends, varies or reinstates a contract of life insurance.
