What has changed since last year?

Our brand

You might notice a few changes to the branding on your annual statement. If you used to see Asteron Life branding, you will now see the Suncorp brand (complete with a new Suncorp logo) on everything we send you about your super. Asteron Life is part of the Suncorp Group and has been for several years now. While there's no change to the way we'll service your account, we think it makes sense for us to embrace the strength of the Suncorp brand.

Our new logo represents Suncorp's history and looks forward to creating a better today for all Australians. At Suncorp we're committed to supporting our customers and their communities across Australia into the future, just as we have done for the last 100 years.

Transparent fees

Our super products are designed to be as transparent as possible. Because of this, you might notice some changes to your statement. These changes are outlined below:

- We no longer group all of your fees into a single amount on your statement. You'll be able to see each type of payment that has been deducted from your account as a separate transaction.
- The fees for administration and investments are shown separately rather than bundled together, as they might have been in the past for some customers.
- Previously we may have provided you with a rebate of the Administration fee. Rebates are no longer applied to your Administration fees as these are now discounted at the time of deduction and are not captured as a separate amount.

Electronic communications

In the spirit of creating a brighter future, we communicate with our super customers electronically. Most communications (including annual statements) will be sent via your online account, where you can access them at any time.

Here's a snapshot of some of the important information in your statement and what it means

A Credits in and debits out:

The 'credits in' amount on your statement includes any contributions, rollovers or other payments into your super.

The 'debits out' amount includes any fees, taxes, or withdrawals. Note – your investment earnings could appear as either credits or debits depending on investment performance.

B Investment earnings:

This amount reflects the change in the unit price value of the investments that make up your account balance. It also includes interest credited to your account from any investment in the Suncorp Traditional Capital Guaranteed Fund if you're invested in that option (see 'Unit prices' on page 8).

C Asset allocation:

Different investment options may be invested across different asset classes. This pie chart shows you how your total account balance is invested across different types of assets. You may sometimes find your asset allocation doesn't equal exactly 100% as these amounts are rounded to two decimal places.

D Insurance cover:

The insurance information on this page of your statement shows the total amount of Life, Total and Permanent Disablement and Income Protection cover you have.

If you have multiple levels of cover you will see these combined into one single amount on this page.

E Beneficiaries:

You can find more information about any beneficiaries you have nominated later in the statement.

F Your details:

Your statement reflects the information we have recorded for you. It's very important that you keep us up to date with your current email address, mobile phone number and home address, as this is the way we communicate with you and send you important information.

You can update your details at any time by logging into your online account or by giving us a call.

G Historical Investment Manager:

You might notice an investment option called 'Historical Investment Manager' on your statement if your account was transferred into a new product during the financial year. It will show $0 as it was used to facilitate the transfer and is not a reflection of how your money was invested.

H Investment strategy:

Your current investment strategy will show how your account balance is split across different investment options. Your future investment strategy shows how future contributions will be invested. The percentage amounts are rounded to two decimal places (as unit prices are to four decimal places).

I Unit prices:

When you invest in super, units in your chosen investment option are allocated to you. The number of units you receive will depend on the investment option's entry price at that time and the amount you invest. For all investment options (except the Suncorp Traditional Capital Guaranteed Fund), your balance in that investment option is calculated by multiplying the number of units you hold by the investment option's exit price. The exit price is the amount shown on your statement and is generally less than the entry price. The difference between the entry and exit price is known as the buy-sell spread.

For example, if you invest $5,000 into an investment option and the unit entry price is $1, you would receive 5,000 units in the investment option. If, on the same day, you tried to sell 5,000 units from the same investment option and it had a buy-sell spread of 0.50%, the unit exit price would be $0.995 and you would receive $4,975

You can find the latest buy-sell spreads in the monthly investment options performance reports on our website, suncorp.com.au/super.

Auto-rebalancing:

In the past, details of any auto-rebalancing would have also been in this section of your annual statement. But you can now find, and amend your auto-rebalancing details via the investments tab in your online account.

J Investment performance:

This shows how your chosen investment options have performed over time. If you transferred from a different Suncorp superannuation product you may only be able to see performance since it's inception in your current product.

If you switched investments during the year, the performance of your previous investments will not be shown here. Please visit our website, suncorp.com.au/super if you would like to review the performance of any other investment options.

K Preserved benefits:

Within your super account balance, different sums of money may be categorised into different types of benefits, which may determine how accessible that money is. Your super benefit may be comprised of what's known in super jargon as preserved, restricted non-preserved, and unrestricted non-preserved amounts:

- Your preserved benefit is the amount of your account balance that you cannot withdraw until you meet a condition of release.
- Any restricted non-preserved benefit relates to specific employment contributions made before 1 July 1999 and you usually cannot withdraw this.
- You can withdraw any superannuation which is unrestricted non-preserved at any time.

L Withdrawal benefit:

This is the amount you would receive if you were to exit the fund. This may differ from your closing account balance because of contributions received, changes to the value of underlying investments, withdrawals, and the deduction of taxes, fees and charges.

M Beneficiaries:

Your beneficiary is the person or people you've chosen to receive your super (including any insurance benefit) if you die. If your percentage allocations do not equal 100% this may indicate your beneficiary nominations are no longer up to date. It's a good idea to keep your beneficiary nominations up to date so they remain current and clearly reflect your wishes.

N Binding non-lapsing beneficiaries:

Normally, you'd need to update your super beneficiary every three years, but making a binding 'non-lapsing' nomination avoids this hassle. This means you never have to update your nominated beneficiaries, unless you want to. If you do, you can do it easily in your online account.

N

O Fees:

Your statement sets out all the fees and charges that apply to your account. If you transferred from a different Suncorp or Asteron super product recently, the fees on your statement may appear different to those you saw on your previous account.

P Insurance fees:

Depending on the type of insurance cover, your insurance fee may consist of multiple components, including government stamp duty, that are applicable to the state where you live. If you have any questions please refer to the applicable insurance premium rates guide that you can find on our website suncorp.com.au/super.

Q Contribution caps:

There are contribution limits (called 'contribution caps') on how much you can contribute to super in any one financial year without being charged additional tax. It's important you know these limits, as sometimes the additional tax for exceeding them can be substantial.

You can find more information on our website suncorp.com.au/super.

R Administration fee:

Your Administration fee may consist of multiple components that are all included in the single Administration fee amount you see on your statement. You may also see separate amounts deducted for percentage based Administration fees and dollar based Administration fees. If you have any questions please refer to the Product Disclosure Statement on our website suncorp.com.au/super.

S One set payment:

While most customers who transferred from a different super product have benefited from additional features and reduced Insurance fees, some customers may have experienced some additional costs due to changes to either the buy-sell spreads payable on transfer, the change in Administration or Insurance fees or the changes to tax arrangements. If this applies to you, you may see a one-off 'one set payment' applied to your account.

Family linking:

Family linked accounts have previously been shown in this section of the annual statement, but from now on, this information is available via your online account.
