Your duty of disclosure

To be read by the Insured Person before completing the application.

Before you enter into a contract of life insurance with the insurer, you have a duty, under the Insurance Contracts Act 1984, to disclose to us every matter that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, that is relevant to the insurer's decision whether to accept the risk of the insurance and, if so, on what terms.

Your duty, however, doesn't require disclosure of a matter

- that diminishes the risk to be undertaken by the insurer
- that is of common knowledge
- that the insurer knows, or in the ordinary course of their business, ought to know
- as to which compliance with your duty is waived by the insurer.

Non-disclosure – If you fail to comply with your duty of disclosure and the insurer would not have entered into the contract if the failure had not occurred, the insurer may avoid the contract within 3 years of entering into it.

If your non-disclosure is fraudulent, we may avoid the contract at any time. The insurer may elect not to avoid your contract but to vary it by:

- reducing the sum insured in accordance with a formula that takes into account the premium that would have been payable if you had complied with your duty of disclosure; or
- placing the insurer in the position in which the insurer would have been in if you had complied with your duty of disclosure.

The options to vary the contract are available to the insurer while the contract remains in force.

Where your contract provides death cover, the insurer may only apply (i) above and must do so within 3 years of you entering into the contract with them.

Your duty of disclosure continues to apply until the contract is entered into. It also applies when you extend, vary or reinstate a contract of life insurance.
